Paris Free, Allies Push On

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 23 (AP)—French patriots have liberated Paris, Gen. De Gaulle's headquarters announced today, as Allied airmen described the flight of the battered German Seventh Army across the Seine as having the appearance of a "rout." On the left of the Allied line British and Canadian armies raced ahead 15 miles, pushing the Germans tighter against the Seine and into the fire of American flanking forces moving toward the sea along the left bank.

Still a third dramatic development came as an American armored column drove more than halfway across France and plunged past the ancient town of Sens, only 160 miles from the German border to the northeast near the Saar town of Neunkirchen.

A special communique from Gen. De Gaulle announced Paris had been freed after four days of street fighting that recalled scenes of Bastille Day when the mobs of Paris once before struck a historic blow for liberty.

This time, the communique said, the fight was led by 50,000 organized French Forces of the Interior, bolstered by hundreds of thousands more who joined with whatever weapons they could find.

The dramatic announcement touched off broadcasts to Frenchmen everywhere as the triumphant strains of "La Marseillaise" sounded again the news of a French victory.

There was no word immediately that American troops had entered the city.

But the French said they had seized all public buildings, won complete control of the situation and captured all the Vichy representatives who had not fled.

Thus Paris, the city of light, was back in French hands just four years and 74 days from the time Hitler's troops marched in. German troops, then at the flood tide of conquest, entered June 14, 1940.

The city became the first continental capital of a full-fledged ally to be freed from German domination.

While the capture was certain to have a tremendous psycological effect on the Germans, militarily Paris already was out of the picture.

The city had been outflanked by American bridgeheads across the Seine to the northwest and southeast and some radio reports, not confirmed at supreme headquarters, already placed American tanks at Meaux, less than 25 miles from Chateau-Thierry.

Supreme headquarters had no comment on reported Allied landings near Bordeaux in southwestern France. If such landings took place it was believed they were on an extremely small scale.

At the Seine crossings Allied planes hammered the German troops and were expected to deliver still more punishment today as the weather showed signs of clearing.

Other German troops fled toward the river where hundreds of river craft of every description from rubber boats to small steamers had been gathered to ferry them across.

Six hundred German tanks, vehicles and locomotives fell before the guns and bombs of Allied planes, headquarters said.

Driving toward the mouth of the Seine and the great port of Le Havre, Dutch and Belgian units took the famous resort cities of Trouville, Villers-sur-Mer and Deauville. Le Havre is seven miles across the Seine estuary from Trouville.

Seven miles southeast of Deauville the Allies took Pont-L'Eveque. The British and Canadian army lines squeezed forward from to 10 to 15 miles engulfing the important road hub of Lisieux, 16 miles southeast of Deauville.

Another German corps commander, Maj.-Gen. Elfeld, was taken by Allied troops.

How Paris Survived

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN

Associated Press Foreign Staff

The Germans entered Paris on June 14, 1940, in a lightning conquest of France that stunned a world which thought the French army and the Maginot line invincible.

They goose-stepped up the broad Champs Elysees and under the Arc de Triomphe built by Napoleon. Hitler came and gloated atop the Eiffel tower.

The German occupation forces sought to win the French to their side, needling them with propaganda that the democracy of the Third Republic was decadent and that France had a place in the German new totalitarian order. A small minority which always had been Fascist minded collaborated, but the mass of people in Paris and the rest of France silently and hopefully awaited the day of liberation.

Since the German occupation, Paris, whose prewar population was 2,829,746, has been virtually a ghost city, its young men prisoners of war in Germany, children evacuated to the countryside, monuments standing like stage scenery at the end of a play ready to be packed and carted away. Lack of fuel shut down the Metro (subway) system. There was no gasoline to operate the big green buses or taxicabs.

The Germans carried on their customary anti-Semitic campaign, rounding up thousands of Jews who were sent away to concentration camps. A puppet press followed the Nazi line. When the Germans ordered all Jews to wear black and yellow stars as identification, Gallic humor had its answer. Non-Jewish Parisians blossomed out with black and yellow breast 'kerchiefs.

Police raids became routine as the Germans sought to stifle the developing underground army.

Reprisal executions were frequent.

Paris made some semblance of keeping up theatrical activities and cultural life. Sacha Guitry produced new plays. The well to do tried to keep up an appearance of gaiety. But a good prewar meal cost 20,000 francs (nominally $400).

GEN. CHARLES DE GAULLE
Announces Liberation of Paris

Paris Liberation Told by DeGaulle

Announcement that Paris had been liberated was given in this communique from Gen. De Gaulle's headquarters:

"Saturday, Aug. 19, in the morning, French National Resistance Forces and the Parisian Committee of Liberation decreed a general uprising in Paris and the Parisian region.

"The FFI, 50,000 armed men strong, and supported by several hundreds of thousands of unarmed patriots, immediately went into action. The Parisian police, which had previously gone on strike, took possession of the police prefecture and made a bastion of the Isle de la Cite against which the German attacks broke.

"Yesterday, Aug. 22, after four days of fighting, the enemy was beaten everywhere.

"The patrioits occupied all civic buildings. The representatives of Vichy were either arrested or are now in flight.

"Thus the people of Paris have taken a decisive part in the liberation of their city."

FRANCE—Sweeping beyond liberated Paris, American columns have taken Sens (1), 165 miles from the German border (2), while west of the city the drive across the Seine (3) continues. Allied forces are closing in on Bordeaux (4), and on the south coast Grenoble (5) has been taken in the drive up the Rhone valley.

Patch Bags Grenoble

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP)—American troops of the Seventh Army, in a spectacular surprise thrust deep into southern France through German defenses, have entered the large industrial city of Grenoble, 140 airline miles north of the Mediterranean coast.

A swift American armored and motorized infantry column plunged into the city, long a hotbed of the French patriot movement, with French forces of the interior playing an effective support role, Allied headquarters said.

This quick advance put Maj. Gen. Patch's spearhead within less than 240 miles of the most southerly points officially announced as reached by American troops below Paris and it appeared the two Allied French fronts would be joined much sooner than originally thought possible.

Grenoble, 58 miles southeast of Lyon and on a river leading to the Rhone valley 30 miles to the west, is 80 miles or more beyond the last reported Allied positions in southern France.

Towns taken by the Americans en route to Grenoble included Digne, Sisteron, Aspres, Gap, St. Bonnet and L'Argentiere, the latter 35 miles from the Italian border.

More than 17,000 prisoners have been taken by the Seventh Army, the Allied announcement said.

Allied troops now are in process of encircling Marseille, with advance elements last reported three miles away.

Heavy fighting still raged inside Toulon. French troops were reported within half a mile of the naval arsenal and docks.

East of Toulon the French occupied Hyeres after a bitter fight.

Red Drive to Knock Romania Out of War

MOSCOW, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two Russian armies surged through heavy German resistance today in new twin offensives on the lower Ukraine fronts, one spearing beyond captured Iasi, large Romanian industrial center, and the other curling southwestward to within 60 miles of the mouth of the Danube.

(The direction and force of the drives indicated a double Russian goal—to eliminate Romania from the war and to capture the Ploesti oil fields, Germany's chief remaining source of war-vital petroleum.)

Announcing last night that the two-pronged attack began four days ago, a Russian communique said the second and third Ukrainian front armies of Gen. Malinovsky and Tolbukhin had swept through more than 350 towns, killing 25,000 Germans and Romanians and capturing 12,000, and gaining 38 to 44 miles on a 156-mile front.

Premier Stalin announced the fall of Iasi in an order of the day. A communique said "The large garrison was wiped out to the last man."

The communique announced new westward penetrations northeast of Warsaw and extension of a wedge into the center of Estonia.

Zambrow, between Warsaw and Bialystok, was captured in a 15-mile advance, and nearer Warsaw the Germans were cleared from a 40-mile section of the south bank of the Bug river.

F. D., Churchill To Meet in Paris?

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The London Daily Herald said today plans were being made for President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill to be present in Paris, "if that is practical," when Allied troops parade under the Arc de Triomphe.

French troops will head the Allied parade, with Gen. De Gaulle probably having the place of honor, the newspaper added.

Declaring the march into the French capital will wait until the "campaign of destruction of the German armies goes a stage further," the Daily Herald said special newsreel operators already have been detailed to record the event and military bands which will participate now are practicing in France.

The Daily Mail said a conference between Roosevelt and Churchill would "take place within a matter of weeks on French soil."

Lone Athol Man Bags 400 Nazis

Sgt. Rodney Cloutman, 26, of Athol, a strapping six-footer who went into the Army before Pearl Harbor with Co. F, 181st Infantry, of the federalized National Guard, was revealed today as one of the outstanding heroes of the Battle of France.

Cloutman, who discarded a shipping room clerk's hammer in a shoe factory to carry an infantryman's rifle, marched the equivalent of nearly two Nazi companies into captivity.

In a dispatch from Chamois, in the Argentan-Falaise pocket where the remnants of Hitler's once proud Seventh Army are bottled up, INS Correspondent Richard Tregaskis disclosed that Cloutman outdid the famed Sgt. York by capturing 400 prisoners single-handedly.

Out of the huge Allied trap which Tregaskis termed Death Valley, Sgt. Colutman led his band of shell-battered Nazi captives with the aid of a captured German sergeant.

The band of prisoners kept growing in size as Cloutman, armed only with his rifle, directed the Nazis to fall in line, then marched them through the carnage to a barbed wire enclosure.

Tregaskis, who witnessed Cloutman's arrival at the prisoner pen with his 400 German followers, termed it an unforgettable sight as the newcomers joined the acres of tired, beaten men in dirty gray to become the living ghosts of Death Valley.

In Athol, Sgt. Cloutman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Cloutman of Exchange st., expressed amazement when the Boston American gave them the first news of their son's heroic exploits.

"Only last Saturday we got two letters from him. He got the chance to write because they had stopped at a farmhouse for a brief rest," the sergeant's father declared.

"He said all he is looking forward to is coming home. Boy, it's going to be one hell of a homecoming now. We'll turn the town inside out."

Rodney's wife, the former Augusta Robicheau who lives with his parents, is vacationing in Sanford, Me.

"Too bad she isn't here to hear this," Cloutman said. "I'm going to call her right away."

Augusta and Rodney, sweethearts since schooldays, were married a year ago, three months before he left for overseas. The Cloutmans moved to Athol from Danvers 19 years ago. Rodney's mother, Gladys, is a nurse at Danvers Hospital and his father is a foreman in the shoe factory where the sergeant was a shipping clerk.

Sgt. Cloutman, for seven years a member of the National Guard, was inducted in Jan., 1941, and received his basic training at Camp Edwards. He served later in the coast artillery at Wells Beach, Me., and transferred to the infantry overseas.

English Shore Stirs Sea-Weary Yanks

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON TROOP TRANSPORT TO ENGLAND (delayed) — All day we have been steaming past a misty mainland, while the sea changes from a dull aquamarine to a fresh absinthe green.

The troops, land-hungry after the long voyage, crowd the decks and brood on the fog-veiled smudge of land. After long and nervous confinement, the men want to feel earth under their feet and are tantalized by the deliberate crawl of the ship.

But there are heavy mine fields to negotiate, and later, submarine booms to pass, so the transport just oozes along as dusk falls. It is a precious moment for these men, who are getting their first glimpse of the headlands of Europe, whose age-old troubles they have come to help settle, as their daddies did a quarter century ago.

Will they, as we did, sow the seed of ideals and reap the harvest of disillusionment? Time sits in judgment!

So mostly the men stare with mixed emotions, each according to his capacities, and every man his own Gulliver, sighting a new world. Their only standard of comparison is home.

NOT LIKE OUR SHORES

"Doesn't look much like our North Shore," mused Sgt. Furio P. DeSantis of 14 Rockland st., Lynn. There was a trace of nostalgia in his tone. "Nor the South Shore, either," ventured T-Sgt. Carleton Fitch of 72 Ardel st., North Quincy.

"Yeh, but you don't get any smell of those oil tanks," jibed Cpl. Frank P. Crowley, Jr., who goes over the Fore River Bridge to reach his summer home at White Horse Beach, Plymouth.

Furio used to work for his scripturally named brothers, John, Paul and Joseph, in their mutually owned Salem garage, and like every married soldier carries in his wallet photos of his wife Pauline, and a cherubic 18-months old boy, John.

Carleton, a signal corpsman, used to install equipment for the N. E. Tel. & Tel. under John Mulhern, and liked to build model boats in the little home where he lived with his wife, Lillian E.

Frank was musically bent, and blew an agony stick, or clarinet, in the B. C. '37 band, and later led St. Bernard's Church choir under Father John Crane in West Newton.

At long last anchor chains rattled, harbor buoys tinkled their marine angelus, sirens tooted terminal signals, and our hazardous argosy was over. Around us in the indigo gloom were faint strings of shielded harbor lights, like rows of incandescent beads. Ships, from little flea boats to great nautical mastiffs, drifted at steel tethers.

LIKE SULLIVAN SQ.

"Like Sullivan sq. in the 5 o'clock rush hour," suggested PFC Robert "Slim" O'Neil, who wears a black scrub beard of toothbrush texture, and lives at 62 Emerald st., Medford, where he used to run for Henry Hormel's high school team.

And suddenly the men along the rails began to sing, a gradually swelling chorus, which swept along the decks into one vast anthem which rolled across the harbor and came echoing back from the wharves. The mood was solemn. Gone was their juvenile ribaldry and adolescent swashbuckling.

The shadowy ranks stood in a solid, spontaneous choir and sang about home, about hope, faith and tradition — "Long, Long Trail," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," "God Bless America." And in the enveloping darkness the unison of their voices bespoke single purpose, and the core of idealism that lay underneath.

For the moment war's coarsening effect, degrading hardship and the cheapness of human life melted away, and they became bonded in a masculine freemasonry, one and inseparable.

In that exalted moment they, who had been drawn from every whither in our national crazy quilt, were not Bostonians, Texans, Mid-Westerners or Southerners. They were fused into a common Americana, city-bred and yokel alike. But there were Greater Bostonians among them! There always are.

Hull, Dulles in Peace Parley

By LEON PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (INS)—Two men of opposite political parties were scheduled to meet in Washington today to determine whether the foreign policy of the Roosevelt administration can be sufficiently accepted by the Republican party to form a bipartisan program for the future peace of the world.

After a conference with a group of Republican members of Congress, John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs expert for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, was to meet Secretary of State Hull this afternoon.

Theme of the Hull-Dulles conversations was expected to be the rights of small nations in the new security organization being planned at Dumbarton Oaks.

After two days of intensive homework with Dewey in Albany, Dulles was prepared to point out the dangers of four-power domination of the postwar world.

Those who know Hull were predicting he would take Dulles into camp with an earnest and emphatic denial that he has ever planned such domination, even in his wildest dreams at night—to use a phrase of his own.

Thus there was little chance the meeting would produce campaign fireworks. The only difference which might arise was the question of confiding the secrets of the Allied security conference to Dulles, and through him to Dewey.

Dulles made it clear in his news conference that he wanted to see the American plan for the world organization and also wanted to be free to make suggestions for changing that plan.

U. S. Battles 3 for Coleman $94,771

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has filed a lien on the estate of Patrick A. "Paddy" Coleman, late South End figure and alleged gambling chief, asserting he owes it $92,771.72 in taxes, interest and penalties.

Disclosure of federal interest in the affairs of Coleman, who when he died had been scheduled to stand trial of gambling charges, was made today in municipal court before Judge Frank W. Tomasello.

The U. S. attorney's office came to the front during proceedings instituted by three men tried but found not guilty in the Coleman case.

They asked the return of money seized in pre-trial raids on their strong-boxes by attorney general's representatives. They are Max Sagansky, Richard F. Harkins and Cornelius Kelly.

Some of the money found in boxes which were not rented directly to Coleman was nevertheless earmarkd in his name.

Judge Tomasello ruled all such earmarked money should be turned over to Atty. Frank Wilson, court-appointed administrator for Coleman's estate.

The rest is scheduled to be piled up on a table in court later today, while federal representatives stand by, for disposition regarding the claims of the three litigants.

"He was due a furlough soon," said Mrs. Layton. "We had planned a second ceremony when he returned."

R. I. Strike May Close Shipyard

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 23 (AP)—A walkout of 7650 members of the AFL Boilermakers' Union today threatened to force closing of the Walsh-Kaiser shipyard, where 19,000 are employed building combat cargo ships for the Navy.

The work stoppage began yesterday when 3900 boilermakers left their jobs after General Manager John S. McDonald said the management had discharged four erectors, members of the Boilermakers' Union, because they refused to finish a job begun by riggers, members of another AFL union.

It progressed through the night shifts, and of 3500 boilermakers due to report for work today 1000 entered the yards, only to march out a few minutes after their arrival.

Amnesia Victim Believed Vet

Nazis Hurl Robot Deluge As Allies Near Platforms

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—South England today suffered its heaviest dawn barrage of flying bombs yet, as Allied armies beat toward the launching platforms in Pas-de-Calais beyond the Seine.

The robots came so fast gunners had no respite in throwing up a terrific curtain of ground fire. Clouds of smoke over the sea indicated the number of bombs brought down in the channel. Others were heard exploding aloft.

The antiaircraft fire was the heaviest yet heard—a continuous roar as of a thunderstorm along the coast.

One buzz bomb after being hit shot upward above a town leaving a trail of smoke. It then dived inland in a wide circle before crashing.

A number of casualties, including some deaths, were reported, mostly from bombs striking residential sections. Bomb shelters survived the bombardment.

An American Army officer awaiting a bus was killed.

In one district where tenements were blasted the women's volunteer service established relief offices in a saloon and served tea in tankards. Red Cross boxes from the United States helped bring comfort. Some of the Red Cross boxes were donated by the Grammar school at East Douglas, Mass.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 23 (AP)—Four years ago Andrew C. Miller, 69, charter member of the Wyandotte Humane Society, started feeding dogs in his neighborhood every night.

Soon the expense became more than his machine shop could stand, but he solved his problem neatly. He made a deal with the butcher shops: He'd keep their knives and cleavers sharp in exchange for bones and scraps.

The dogs—all 34 of them—think it's a great idea.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 23 (AP) — Mrs. Lawrienne Taylor Wilkinson, 28, filed suit for annulment of her marriage to former Capt. Morrison J. Wilkinson, Jr., convicted by an Army court martial of attack and bigamy, and discharged from the service.

"He just used us, baby and me, during his trial," the fourth wife of the ex-flier said. "He wanted us to gain sympathy for himself. After the verdict he turned against us."

'Queen,' Looper Face Delinquency Charges

A 13-year-old South Boston boy, one of a gang of five youngsters, was seized in a stolen automobile in South Boston today in the widening drive to stamp out juverile crime.

The youth, captured after a looper chase through the district, was to face juvenile court in South Boston on a delinquency charge today, while a 16-year-old Roxbury girl, the long-sought "Ellie the Queen," faced a similar charge in Roxbury court.

The South Boston boy was nabbed by Patrolman Frank Walsh of the Athens st. station who noticed a speeding machine without license plates, gave chase in his own car and forced the speeders to the curb at C st. and Old Colony ave. Five boys leaped out, but Walsh was able to seize only one.

Meanwhile, police of the Back Bay station pressed delinquency charges against "Ellie the Queen," allegedly one of the ringleaders of the young gang that has lured and beaten a score of servicemen.

She denied all connection with the Roxbury gang charged with the robbery-slaying of John Prunty, former Marine, but, according to police, acknowledged she played a part in luring Merchant Seaman Harold Weiler, victim of another gang.

Asked why they called her "Ellie the Queen," the girl tossed her head fliply and retorted:

"Well, Ellie's a nickname. And about 'the Queen,' well, I guess they think I'm goodlooking.

Pint of Your Blood Means Life Saved

There are from 10 to 14 pints of blood in every normally healthy human being, depending on his weight.

Would you give one-fourteenth of yours so that some wounded fighting man may hold onto life itself?

The need is desperate.

Soldiers and sailors back from war go to the Blood Donor Center because they say the men are crying and screaming and praying for it over there.

The need is so urgent that whole blood as well as plasma is being flown overseas.

But the shocking news was announced today from the Red Cross Blood Donor Center on Boylston st. that the whole blood of our New Englanders will not revive the men who are shedding it so freely and so painfully on the fighting fronts.

"Boston will not be asked to contribute whole blood as New York and Washington have been, unless hundreds more every day make appointments," said D. K. Little, director of the Center.

"We are only asked for plasma, because we haven't met our quota of 600 pints, or 850 appointments daily," he added.

Today a Mass. General Hospital nurse, Mrs. Gordon Proctor, 28, of Brook Hill ave., Milton, gave a donation for the sake of her husband who is overseas with a City Hospital Unit.

"For the sake of all of them, give!" she pleaded. "I know what I'm talking about. It doesn't hurt any more to give it than to get it."

Planes Lash Many Jap Bases

By Associated Press

The unceasing Pacific air offensive against Japan has achieved a new climax wit a record 135-ton bombing of strategic Halmahera island 300 miles south of the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

This strike was the latest and biggest of air blows steadily reducing 6700-square-mile Halmahera as a barrier between MacArthur's New Guinea forces and the Philippines, which he aims to recapture.

Elsewhere the Allied air offensive—currently bridging a lull between invasions—ranged from the Flores sea 1000 miles south of the Philippines, to tiny Marcus island, 1000 miles southeast of Tokyo. MacArthur's planes hit Ceram, Davao, Vogelkop on Dutch New Guinea, Biak Island, Wewak, Palau, New Ireland, New Britain and Bougainville.

Central Pacific air forces under Adm. Nimitz set fire to two ships near Marcus and attacked Truk and Ponape in the Carolines and Yap island, southwest of Guam. Wake, U. S.-owned island 900 miles east of Marcus, was also hit.

Chinese forces were succeeding in their Yunnan battle but encountered a new flood of Jap power aimed at consolidating the victory of Hengyang.

In West Burma the Japs retreating from India moved so fast as to suggest a general withdrawal south.

Asks Inquest in Lynn Woman's Fatal Fall

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Ruth D. Moses, 35, Willow st., Lynn, who succumbed to head injuries at Lynn Hospital Saturday after falling down a flight of stairs in an Oxford st. rooming house, was requested today by Chief Inspector Charles T. Duggan of the Lynn police.

Duggan said the husband, George Moses, claims his wife was pushed down the stairs during an argument with the janitor over a telegram she understood had been delivered there for her. The janitor, his wife and a roomer all claim the woman tripped and fell.

Nazis Flee Poles On Italy Coast

ROME, Aug. 23 (INS)—Polish and Italian units of the British Eighth Army driving fleeing Nazis north along the Adriatic coast of Italy encountered stiffening German resistance below the Metauro river today.

Other Eighth Army units advancing in mountainous country south of the Metauro drove ahead three miles southwest of San Gorigio de Pesaro before running into heavy German artillery fire from positions north of the river.

U. S. Black Widow Plane in Action

U. S. NIGHT FIGHTER BASE, France, Aug. 14 (delayed) (AP)—The new American Black Widow night fighter has gone into action with its 20-mm. cannon and already has destroyed four night German raiders.

The plane is painted coal black, has twin engines and twin tails and looks very much like the P-38 Lightning, but it is considerably heavier and larger. It carries a pilot and observer and there is a third seat for an engineer, who often goes along.

BROTHERS AT SAME BASE—Reunited recently at a Ninth Air Force Service Command base in the European theater, Pvt. Richard C. Helyar (left) of Brattleboro, Vt., and his brother, S-Sgt. John P., Jr., look over a patched flak wound of a bomber. Their brother, Marshall, a navigator, was killed in a raid on Germany last January. John's wife, the former Dorothy Bragdon, lives in Lowell.

34 Children Die As Plane Crashes

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—A plane crashed on the infants' department of a church school in Freckleton, Lancashire, today, killing 50 persons, 34 of them children.

The plane plunged almost in the center of the village, setting afire the whole area. Several other buildings were wrecked or burned.

Nazis Say U-Boat Sank British Cruiser

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The International Information Bureau, German propaganda agency, declared today in a Berlin broadcast that a German submarine had scored three torpedo hits on a British cruiser of the Dido class in the Arctic ocean.

The cruiser broke into two pieces and sank, said the broadcast. The German claim was not confirmed by British sources.

2 Hub Youths Sought In $1000 Diner Theft

AUBURN, Aug. 23—Ransacking a desk drawer in the Yankee Flyer diner on Worcester turnpike, thieves today stole $1000 in small bills. Two South Boston youths, former employes and Shirley School parolees, were sought for questioning by state police.

Cambridge Man Held in Kidnap

Pleading not guilty to charges of abducting a 17-year-old girl neighbor and a morals offense, Raymond W. Bourasso, 27, father of a 3-year-old boy, of Kinnaird st., Cambridge, was ordered held in $1000 in East Cambridge district court today as Judge Robert E. Wolcott continued the case for a week.

Bourasso was arrested at gunpoint on the Concord turnpike yesterday by Arlington police, charged with using an auto without authority, as he and the girl were returning from Fitchburg, where they allegedly spent Monday night at the home of friends of his.

The abduction and morals charges were lodged against Bourasso by Cambridge police after they had questioned him and the girl following his arrest.

The girl, who was turned over to the custody of her mother, told police she met Bourasso about three months ago and had been seeing him on an average of once a week since.

A Concord Reformatory officer was present during Bourasso's arraingment as the defendant is on parole from that institution. He was paroled last March after serving one year of a five-year term.

Ivy Massage Case Scratching Seen

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—The case of the poison ivy massage may be scratched before it comes to court tomorrow.

Her rash hasn't healed but 17-year-old Ruth Toepfer's itch for vengeance is gone, she tearfully told City Judge Charles W. Boote, asking him to dismiss an assault charge against her former fiance, ex-paratrooper Rowland Blinston.

Boote ruled that Blinston, whom the girl charged with rubbing poison ivy against her face an darms, must appear before him nevertheless, but the 22-year-old veteran remained under observation in a hospital with no indication when he would be released.

Miss Toepfer said she might have given Blinston the impression when she returned his ring Aug. 12, that she wouldn't resent a poison ivy massage.

Cops Follow Career in Army

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—George Elser, 2nd, of 58 Spring st., Pittsfield, is a member of the military police. So's his old man, George Elser, Sr. What's more, the father, now 49, was a member of the MP's in the last war. And before this war, Elser 2nd was a state trooper in Pittsfield. Policing runs in the family.

Elser 2nd, a good-looking redhead of 28, married Ruth Betters of Pittsfield, and they have two children, Nancy Lee, 3, and David, six months.

This was police day, it seemed. In addition to Elser there were Paul Sullivan, 29, of 106 N. st., South Boston, and Leonard Ricketson, 33, of 115 Marshall st., Watertown.

Sullivan is an Apollo who looks more like 19 than 29. He played the backfield for Leo Daley at English High in '32 and kept playing in the Park League while he was attached to Station 13, Jamaica Plain. His mother, Mary T., is in South Boston. His sweetheart, Ruth Farr, at 206 Fellsway West, Medford.

Ricketson is a broad-shouldered giant who played tackle and threw the weights for U. of Connecticut before joining the force. He was stationed at 10 in Roxbury. He has a daughter Laura, 16 mos., and a brother Harry with an anti-aircraft battery in Brooklyn.

Both Sullivan and Ricketson are connected with the Criminal Investigation Dept.

Pvt. William J. Higgins, 34, of 24 Hurlburt st., Cambridge, quarterbacked Norwood High's crack '28 football team, and had as teammates Johnny Dixon, Tobey Cavanaugh and Johnny Donovan. Higgins married Audrey Vinotte of Somerville, and they have a daughter, Joan Arline, 6.

Pvt. Cornelius Sullivan is sweating out the arrival of an heir at his 93 Appleton st., South End home. "Gee, I'd like to hear something," sighs the 28-year-old ex-pipefitter. He's the father of one infant, Peggy Ann, 18 mos. His expectant wife is the former Margaret D. Sullivan.

His mother, Maria M. Sullivan, lives at 115 Union Park st.

First Sgt. James Witkowski, 29, of 23 Currier st., Lawrence, is the third member of his family to see overseas duty. Brother Steve, 36, is with the medics in Italy. Brother Andrew, 25, is recuperating in Texas from malaria contracted in Guadalcanal. To wife Louise: "Love."

Harold Whitney, 72 Elm st. Holliston, isn't worrying about the soldier's vote. That's because he graduated from Holliston High only a year ago, and is just 19. He's with the medics and is feeling fine. To mother Hazel and father Harold G: "We'll all be home by Christmas."

Pvt. Donald Hatch, 24, of 19 Lochmere ave., No. Weymouth, was showing a picture of wife (Winifred Morrow, Weymouth) and baby Peggy, 14 mos., and saying: "I'd like to have some of Winnie's hot mince pie right now." To parents Milan and Ola Hatch, 15 Green st., Wakefield: "Never felt better."

Corp. Thomas W. Callbeck, 38, of 55 Fremont st., Somerville, worked in the Columbian National Life Insurance Co. on Franklin st. with Olive Brown of South Braintree, and married her last November.

William Ryan, 35, of 21½ Milton st., Somerville, married Margaret Trant of No. Cambridge. Margaret works in the Third Middlesex Court in East Cambridge.

Bill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ryan, live at 24 Orchard pl., Arlington. He has a brother, Francis Leo, 18, in the Army.

PFC Harold McElaney, 32, of 5 Upland rd., Winchester, made one trip to Australia with the medics before arriving in England.

Cpl. Louis Nadeau, 20, of 85 Chelsea st., Charlestown, is with the engineers and says: "It's easier than my job at the Navy Yard."

Louis knew Lt. Frank Moynihan and Joe McSweeney of the American in pre-war days.

Veterans' Friend

Q—Will you please tell me where I can obtain a copy of the GI Bill of Rights, particularly the section covering the educational provisions? J. H. Y., Somerville.

A—Copy may be obtained by writing your Congressman or by visiting your Congressman's office, located in the Federal Building.

Q—In case of death of a son in the service, who has named his mother beneficiary of the insurance policy, will the father of this boy be able to claim part of the death benefit?

A—No. The beneficiary is the only person to whom the payments can be made.

Q—Is a man who entered the service (Army) in Sept., 1942, and discharged in April, 1943, eligible for mustering-out pay? N. P., Orange.

A—You fail to give the reason of discharge which is necessary in order to determine eligibility for mustering-out pay. If discharge because of over 38 years of age to enter war work, the answer is no. Otherwise we will have to have more detail.

Q—For full details on the GI Bill, especially the educational provision, where would an ex-soldier of World War II apply? J. D., Quincy.

A—The Veterans' Administration will assist you in regard to the educational phases of the bill and also the rehabilitation program. The Veterans' Bureau, Contact Unit, is located in the Federal Building, Boston.

Wellesley Greets 446 Freshmen

One of the largest classes in Wellesley College history, 446 freshmen, arrived today for opening of the 70th academic year. The newcomers represented 35 states, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Canada and, despite the war, seven foreign countries.

Upperclassmen return to Wellesley Friday. The student body will be greeted Saturday by Capt. Mildred H. McAfee, president of the college and director of the WAVES, in Memorial Chapel.

$300,000 Blaze In Hearst Home

McCLOUD, Cal., Aug. 23 (INS)—A fire originating through a short circuit yesterday destroyed The Gables, one of the main buildings at Wyntoon, summer home of William Randolph Hearst, which was used principally for the housing of guests.

Damage was estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000. Many art objects in the building were destroyed.

Quick work by the McCloud and Mt. Shasta fire departments and forestry service personnel prevented the blaze from spreading.

She Has 8 Pleas To End War Job

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—A "family reason" is the woman war worker's most frequent excuse to take another war job when her first one ends because of cutbacks.

The Office of War Information lists seven other reasons:

Not as much financial incentive.

Training for first job didn't fit worker for second.

Unskilled women cannot get jobs if men are available.

Too much physical strength demanded.

Community service jobs do not "have enough wartime appeal."

"Feels she's done her share."

"Strain of keeping house and working too great."

Salvage Drive Picks Up Speed

The first two days of the city's August salvage drive have produced a total of 315,550 pounds of waste paper and 165,980 pounds of tin for the war effort, campaign officials announced today after tabulating returns from the first 10 wards of Boston.

Today, city trucks scheduled pickups in Wards 11 and 12, Roxbury, and 13 and 14, Dorchester. Wards 15 to 18 will be canvassed tomorrow and the drive will end Friday with collections in Wards 19 to 22.

Winners in the $25 War Bond drawing conducted by the Boston Salvage Committee to spur interest in the drive included a four-year-old Back Bay boy, son of a soldier in the Army Signal Corps.

The little boy is Seward Colcord Smith of Bay State rd.

B. C. '34, who thinks, if fortune is kind, the Nazis may collapse and let him spend his Nov. 7 wedding anniversary with Mary T. (Begley).

And Cpl. Charles "Ken" Stewart of 420 Broadway, Somerville, who ruefully displays a little gift parcel, wrapped and addressed to wife, Frances (Inglesby), which the rush of embarkation prevented him from mailing on time for their anniversary. None are more sentimental than soldiers.

And Sgt. George A. Fraser of 250 School st., Somerville, a former fireman for the B. & M. between Mechanicville, N. Y., and Boston who showed me photos of a tiny, white-frocked tot named Sandra.

And PFC Robert B. Marsh of 237 First st., Melrose, who is wearing the gold signet ring with its Masonic emblem presented by his helpmeet, Ruth.

And Pvt. William E. Cummings of 25 Prospect st., Waltham, a wiry welterweight who used to play halfback for Jack Heaphy's 1939 school team, and tells time by Mother Norah's gift watch.

And 2 Lt. Arthur W. Murphy of 64 Radcliffe st., Dorchester, Harvard '43, whose sister Phyllis, is in Alaska with the Red Cross, and whose sister Louise is a seaman in the WAVES.

And S-Sgt. Leo J. Clougherty of 15 Telegraph st., South Boston, who used to clerk in Supt. John J. Dunphy's postoffice.

And PFC John O'Neil of 120 Granite ave., Dorchester, who regards the wrist watch given by bride, Anne (m. Aug. 22, '43) as talisman.

Sleep was fitful last night, and the final shipboard breakfasts were served by solemn-faced Negro Navy stewards in the half light of pre-dawn. Kits were packed and trundled to the hatchways, for removal in the winch hammocks.

Last minute musters were held and the easy informalities of the voyage gave way to rigid discipline. Troops which had held afterdeck hilarities and suspended saluting, stamped hobnail heels with concerted clicks- standing stiffly at attention.

There were faces grown familiar to this writer in the ranks. Youths like Pvt. Carleton Glew of 97 Putnam ave., Cambridge, a military policeman, who tells Mother Edith and wife, Helen (Morang) and infant Robert Dean, "I am sorry I couldn't see you before leaving."

And Pvt. John Lutoff of 2 Corning st., South End, who ate his spaghetti at Boraschi's Cafe attended Rev. Fr. Giesler's Holy Trinity Church, and mentions Phyllis, Joyce Ann and Ann Marie.

SERVED IN PHILIPPINES

And PFC William "Mon" Kerrigan of 78 Carolina ave., Jamaica Plain, who served in the Philippines, was evacuated seven weeks before the Jap attack and wants to go back there later to grow sugar cane.

And Pvt. Robert H. Marden of 44 Chambers st., West End, a scholarly type whose mother, Helen, heads the Francis Willard Settlement on Chambers st. Pvt. Marden was married to Helen Wright on June 8 of this year and is reading "The Late George Apley."

And Cpl. Thomas L. Coffey of 20 Oakland rd., Sharon, who worked for Buddy Lund in the Mu Switch Co. (Canton) and likes to remember the reunion he held with brother Arthur (just back from the Aleutians) last June.

And Sgt. Everett J. Spearing of 16 Charles st., Taunton, who has added 14 pounds since he was transferred to the MPs.

And Pvt. Edwin F. Burns of 166 Calumet st., Roxbury, who used to live 10 doors from Mayor Tobin, worked for Jim Maguire as air brake inspector for the New Haven, and calls a 2800-mile yoo-hoo to wife of 11 years, Sylvia, and Edwin (9) and John (7).

And Sgt. Charles Callan of 197 Heath st., Brookline, whose dad, James J., takes care of the Cabot estate, and who played quarterback for Harry Downes in '40.

The harbor lies tranquil in summer sunshine. Gulls wheel with thin screams. Tugs chuff busily. Troop trains wait at the distant docks.

And finally it happens! Two flat decked naval tenders poke off from the shore and nuzzle alongside our transport. Hawsers are thrown. Gangplanks are hoisted and the troops begin to stream gingerly over slippery footing. And presently the tenders clear and mooch toward the wharves, where tiny engines and gondola compartments stand.

And finally, after a series of shrill peanut whistles, the little engines puff off with their loads—mystery bound for unnamed, secret goals in the English hinterland. The long voyage is over!

R: Butter Lack

Increased government buying along with a seasonal production decline was blamed today for a promised shortage of butter scheduled to last through the R months.

The government is taking 30 per cent of the nation's August production and will take 20 per cent in September.

Smart Set Longworth Wedding

By BETTY ALDEN

UNLIKE HER mother who was married at the White House in the presence of social and political leaders from all over the world, Paulina Longworth, granddaughter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, will have a small family wedding Saturday when she becomes the bride of Alexander "Sandy" Sturm of Westport, Ct.

PAULINA LONGWORTH who Saturday becomes bride.

"There are no formal invitations," her mother, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, said this morning. "We have invited just family members by phone and telegraph."

Rt. Rev. Oliver J. Hart, Bishop of Pennsylvania, and Rev. Dr. Phillips Osgood will officiate at the 4 o'clock ceremony in Emmanuel Church, Manchester-by-the-Sea. Mrs. Longworth, whose homes are in Cincinnati and Washington, is spending the summer at Magnolia.

"Just family" includes a number of socially prominent Bostonians. Mrs. Longworth's mother, first wife of President Teddy Roosevelt, was Miss Alice Lee of the Hub's Lee and Cabot clan. Mrs. Sewall Fessenden (Caroline Lee) is her aunt and the popular Fessenden daughters, Mrs. Edwin Cave, Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk and Mrs. Edward L. Bigelow of Chestnut Hill, are her cousins. The Bigelows are lending their home at Manchester for the reception.

* * *

ON THE Roosevelt side the family includes by marriage such popular young Bostonians as Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, Jr. (Polly Gaddis); John G. Palfrey, Jr., who married Belle Roosevelt; Robert Gannett, second husband of Edith Derby, another grandchild of the late President; and Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Jr. (Elizabeth Tweed).

After their wedding Mr. Sturm and his bride will live in Redding, Ct. They met at a party in Washington where he held a government job after graduating from Yale. Paulina attended Madeira School and Vassar and will have a Vassar classmate, Elizabeth Wadsworth, as maid of honor.

Garden Requires Work Even Now

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Market Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director, Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Most of the work of planting is now over for the year, and naturally less time is required in the victory garden, but there are still many jobs to do.

Harvesting now is at its peak for the main season crops, late crops need attention and early crops that have gone by must be cleaned up. In many gardens old bean vines and other crops are harboring insects and disease.

It is important to bear in mind that the way you manage this year's garden may have a lot to do with next year's results.

Early potatoes are now ripening off. If the vines are still green dig only what you need for the present and allow the rest to remain in the ground. There is no advantage in digging all of your potatoes now as the storage facilities are not too good. As the vines die back it will be well to be sure that the potatoes are not exposed to the sun as this will cause sun-scald. On light, sandy soils potatoes can be left in the ground for two or three weeks without harm. Keep potatoes growing as long as possible if you want good mealy potatoes.

Late crops that were planted need good care if they are to produce. One thing that you must realize is that these later crops will be ready for harvest when commercial production is lower and prices are higher. Also most families are at home and there is more need for a supply of food.

Cultivate and control weeds the same as you did for the early plantings.

Late beets will respond to a little extra fertilizer or nitrate. Lettuce is a leaf crop and naturally needs nitrates for fast growth. With the recent rains and cooler weather lettuce grown now will be better quality and flavor. There were complaints about lettuce being bitter during midsummer. This is caused by hot weather.

A new squash found on the market is a variety known as butternut. This is a high quality squash and can be used early like summer squash or matured and bakes as a vegetable similar to hubbard squash. Matured, it is also excellent for pies. Do not make the mistake of using this vegetable too soon as the quality is not at its best. Like all fall squashes it has a tendency to be watery when used now. Allow squash to mature well and it can be kept all winter.

Cardinal's Red Hat To Hang in Cathedral

The late William Cardinal O'Connell's red hat will soon be hung on the ceiling of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, directly over the altar, to remain until it shrivels and disintegrates.

It will mark the first time such an observance has occurred in Boston.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Almost Human Animal, Help Protect Him

THE DOG whose picture appears here is Rowdy of Brookline. The name, bestowed upon him in frolicking puppyhood, is really quite misleading.

Today Rowdy is a thorough gentleman, with docile manners, gracefully wagging tail and cultured bark.

ROWDY

For centuries Rowdy's ancestors guided and guarded the sheep of Scotland and fought the ravenous wolves of that rugged land.

Here, in urban America, Rowdy carries on the noble traditions of his line as best he can.

All day long he plays with his little two-year-old mistress and is never happier than when she is sitting on his broad back or stroking his sensitive nose.

Rowdy loves his little mistress with a love that only a dog can understand.

Were danger to threaten her, he would spring from his shell of civilization and battle for her protection with all the ferocity of his forebears.

And yet, in spite of all his canine goodness, Rowdy himself is never completely safe.

Always there lurks the possibility of his falling into the hands of sadistic-minded vivisectionists who would gouge out his fine eyes, slash off his wagging tail or subject him to other unspeakable cruelties.

The shocking mistreatment of a devoted and trusting animal and the callous breaking of a baby's heart probably would not disturb most of the vivisectionists.

It was all done, they would undoubtedly say as they have frequently said in the past, in the interest of "scientific research."

To stop this vicious practice and to curb the degeneracy of persons who are a disgrace to the human race, the Congress of the United States has undertaken the writing of legislation banning vivisection and cruelty to animals in the District of Columbia.

The progressive-minded sponsors of the proposed law, Senator William Langer and Representative Usher L. Burdick of North Dakota, would make it a crime "FOR ANY PERSON TO EXPERIMENT OR OPERATE IN ANY MANNER WHATSOEVER UPON ANY LIVING DOG FOR ANY PURPOSE OTHER THAN THE HEALING OR CURING OF SAID DOG."

The legislation should be enacted immediately.

All our New England Senators and Representatives should support it.

It should pave the way for a better and stronger law prohibiting the transportation of animals from one state to another for vivisection purposes.

And it should also arouse and awaken our own Massachusetts Legislature to the need of similar protection for dogs and their owners in this Commonwealth.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—I thought you might like to hear some sidelights on the four power security conversations now being conducted at a very high-class joint here named Dumbarton Oakes.

I am skipping the actual conversations for two reasons: (1) They are very deep and undoubtedly beyond my comprehension: (2) They won't let me in to hear them anyway.

You may argue, if you choose, that the latter excuse is weak; that if I had any git-up-and-git I would bust right in and say:

"Listen Cordie (meaning Mr. Hull). What in h— are youse all talking about?"

But I am a shy, retiring type, sensitive to rebuff. I would simply die if Andy (meaning Ambassador Gromyko), or Alex (meaning Kid Cadogan) gave me the fishy eye and treated me as an interloper.

Naturally, the press is barred because it would never do for the public to know what the powers are up to. It has always been my contention that any citizen who displays curiosity as to what his government is committing him to is just plain nosey.

There is far too much of this snoopishness going on. Unless it is rigorously discouraged, some busybody will want to know personal secrets, like why FDR wished to ditch Wallace in favor of Truman.

WELL, IT SEEMS I am getting off my subject. But I have absolutely no powers of concentration and wander all over the place. Among the sidelights are these:

The Russians demonstrated, right off the bat, that they are here for business—no horsing around. They will not permit themselves to become distracted.

This was made evident after the opening session. Reporters were permitted in to have a look around.

In front of the places where the delegates, or conversationalists, had been delegating or conversing were writing pads.

The pads of the American and British conversationalists were covered with curleycues, noughts and crosses, kindergarten cows and fish coyly swimming down the chimneys of houses.

But the Russians hadn't committed a single doodle!

Seemingly there isn't a doodler in the entire Soviet delegation. For all I know, this may be a good tip-off to national character. At the end of the session their pads were as pristine white as at the beginning.

The Chinese have not arrived yet, so I have no information on their doodling or non-doodling. I am as disappointed about this as you are because I would dearly love to get a gander at doodling in Chinese.

I DO NOT KNOW why they allowed the delegates in at the opening session because they only got in the way of the photographers.

Incidentally, the movie-taking was a great tribute to private enterprise. Five cameras were grinding away, taking the same shots, where one camera could have done it.

When reporters were allowed to look over the place a week ago, prior to the opening, they noted a large 17th century tapestry on a wall. At the opening session the tapestry was gone. It had concealed a musicians' gallery.

Apparently the delegates are taking no chances on a spy hiding behind a tapestry, or maybe a sliding panel.

Also in front of the delegates were ornate name cards. An inquisitive reporter, who is said to spend his evenings practicing to be a Peeping Tom, turned over the card of Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, head of the American delegation.

Scribbled on the reverse side was this:

"Put your faith in Allah, but tie your camel!"

I have no idea why Undersecretary Stettinius should be obsessed with the necessity of hitching his camel. I didn't even know he owned one.

Anyway, I think the thing represents a bit of plagiarism. Oliver Cromwell is said to have remarked:

"Put your trust in God, but keep your powder dry!"

ALTHOUGH KEEPING their conversations to themselves, the four powers have taken Congress into their confidence on one important matter. They have disclosed the names of their countries' capitals.

A new sign has just appeared on the wall in the House lobby. It is headed "The Big Four" and reads:

"The United States—Capital, Washington."

"Britain—Capital, London."

"The Soviet Union—Capital, Moscow."

"China—Capital, Chungking."

I hope and trust the Congressmen will respect this confidence and not blab.

HOW many successful men do you know who neither drink alcoholic liquors nor smoke? Anyway, you can add Gen. Bernard Montgomery of the British Eighth Army to your list. The general doesn't swear, either. And he reads the Bible every night. Being a breakfast fan, I was attracted by a London newspaper item which described Gen. Montgomery's favorite morning meal. It said: "For breakfast the general likes fried bread, bubble and squeak and porridge. On the porridge he uses salt instead of sugar and plenty of hot milk." Very interesting. But what is "bubble and squeak"?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—So you claim to be a young old timer as a sports fan. Who was Ralph Rose? And how about Arthur Duffy? A—Easy question. Ralph Rose was champion shotputter for the University of Michigan. Arthur Duffy was a 100-yard dash star for Georgetown. Incidentally, I could never work up much enthusiasm for track athletics. Only went to track meets when

I had to . . . Q—Didn't you state you thought the reason for there being not so many marriages in May was because people thought that month unlucky for weddings? A—Do not recall making such a statement. I did point out, though, some people thought May unlucky for marriages. There are 129 superstitions as to wedding days and all are ridiculous. Yet the number of people who believe in them is astonishing. On the 13th of the month marriages drop about 60 per cent. When the 13th comes on Friday the drop is about 80 per cent. Incidentally, two of the happiest couples I know were married on Friday the 13th.

PASSING BY: Linda Darnell, Cinema cutie. As I told you, Linda has a pet deodorized skunk. She says when she gets enough courage she is going to lead this pet down Hollywood boulevard on a leash. That should be interesting. Miss Darnell has just had a theater named after her in Dallas, Texas. That's nice. I often wonder why more theaters are not named after great film stars of yesteryear as a tribute to their memory. Did you ever hear of a Valentino theater? Or a Jean Harlow theater?

HUSBAND SHORTAGE: The husband shortage must be acute. Single young women are apparently growing extremely desperate. Recently I printed a communication from a Manhattan bachelor who said he was looking for a girl to marry who "did not drink, smoke, use lipstick or nail polish or wear a girdle." I thought this bachelor was so exacting the bachelorettes would greet his specifications with derision. I was wrong. Innumerable feminine subscribers state they fit the aforementioned specifications and are much interested in the exacting bachelor.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23—I enjoy saying I am right. Who doesn't? So it gives me great satisfaction to say it's Rene Dunne for "Over 21." I said when I announced that Columbia had bought Ruth Gordon's play, it was purchased for Irene. Many other actresses were reported and written about but it was always a Dunne comedy.

Irene will do it a month after she finishes "A Woman's Privilege," so that means the picture will get under way and be released next year. I saw the play in New York with Ruth Gordon, and it is a hilarious comedy and timely, but, it should be made now.

A PLANE will bring "Rosey" Rosswell from Pittsburgh today or tomorrow for his first motion picture test. He's a sports commentator and his resemblance to Ernie Pyle was first discovered by Karl Krug, motion picture writer on the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Karl then told John Harris, Pittsburgh theater magnate, who had a wax recording of Rosswell's voice and a photograph made to send to Lester Cowan. The result was so satisfactory a test is being made for the Pyle role in "G I Joe." Of course, others are being flown in for tests, too. But this sounds the most promising.

BILLY WILDER is A-1. (In my grandmother's day they would have called him a card.) Maybe you happen to remember that in "Double Indemnity," which Billy directed, a certain telephone number is called by Fred MacMurray who repeats it aloud as he dials. Well, several bright fans remembered the number and decided to ring it as a gag. Much to their surprise a feminine voice answers and asks: "How did you like the picture?" The startled caller usually stammers. "But—whoooo is this?" "I'm Mrs. Billy Wilder" is the cheerful reply. "My husband used his own telephone number and since so many people are calling us thought we would check on how you liked the movie."

WHEN HAL WALLIS stopped in Chicago en route home he and Mark Hellinger went to the Mayfair, where Phil Regan is singing. "You ought to be in pictures." said Hal. "I'd like to," answered Phil, and the result was a contract for Regan to play a part in "Don't Ever Grieve for Me," a post-war story. It's a one-picture deal, with options, and Phil will be here in January to report to the Wallis company.

GYPSY ROSE LEE writes most amusingly to Carmel Meyers Blum about the approaching event. Says Gypsy: "I am knitting little booties and am as busy as I can be. I can hardly believe it is true. But, will you ask Louella how she got her information? She knew it almost as soon as I did." Gypsy went on to say someone had said she had built a Roman bath in her residence, and the whole New York City Council came to see if she had broken any laws. The bath turned out to be a bird bath!

IF SAM WOOD can get by September 5 he can have Humphrey Bogart for the male lead in "Jubal Troop." The script has been re-written by Laurence Stalling and all the objectionable features taken out. Bogey has wired Jack Warner he is ready to return to work and since there is nothing ready for him at Warners, well, this is probably Jack Warner's answer to Bogey's telegram. Certainly a lineup of real talent, Claudette Colbert and Humphrey Bogart.

Barbara Hutton remains in their Pacific Palisades home: Jon Hall must be feeling better. He was at the Clover Club with his brother-in-law, Tommy Langford: Ilona Massey, the beautiful, had luncheon at the Players' Club with her ex, Alan Curtis, and for the first time in a year he actually didn't look glum and unhappy: Sidney Miller, Mickey Rooney's one-time collaborator on songs, has lost his heart to Norma Manners, an Arthur Murray dancer: Franchot Tone is taking his wife and baby back East with him while he settles his father's estate: Vincent Youmans, who was near death and never expected to pull through is so well he is returning to Los Angeles with his wife: Dolores Moran is happy because her favorite soldier, Maj. Gus Daymond, is in town: PFC Charles Chaplin, Jr., home on leave, is passing his time with Irene Danaroff, daughter of the owner of Bublichki: Maria Montez is off for New York next week for a vacation and to visit Hospitals: Dean Jagger writes Jennifer Holt he expects to make several pictures for Herbert Wilcox in England: Jack Haley is in New York after five weeks of entertaining soldiers overseas: Warner Weidler, Virginia's brother, has been very sick in a Coast Guard hospital, and she is worried. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Home Made Soups Important Now

IT SEEMS TO US that soups are even more important in dog-day August than they are in January. They're so handy for that one hot dish for summer meals. Time was when we could open a can as often as we wanted without feeling the slightest compunction, but blue points have put an end to that somewhat lazy expedient, and new recipes for home-made soups are really coming into their own these days

Here's an excellent Middle American recipe for a cream of vegetable soup—so much more satisfying than the clear variety with lighter summer meals. The tiny pieces of dark ripe olive add a rich note to the yellow-flecked creamy soup.

Cream of Vegetable Soup

1 cup minced squash
½ cup minced carrots
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup minced celery
1 tsp. salt 2 cups water
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
Pepper to taste 3 tbsp. flour
Dash of nutmeg 2 cups milk
1 tbsp. chopped ripe olives

Cook squash, carrot and onion in salted water for 15 minutes, or until the carrot is tender. Make a smooth cream sauce with the butter, flour and milk. Add the vegetables and liquid, simmer for 5 minutes. Season with pepper and nutmeg and garnish with ripe olives. Makes 6 servings.

Sometimes it is hard to get various members of your family to drink milk. Serving it in soup is one way to overcome this. Similarly, vegetables may be worked into the meals of those who lack them, by serving them in soups.

Split Pea Soup

1½ cups dried split peas
8 cups cold water 2 tbsp. fat
1 sliced medium onion
1 ham bone 1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper 1 tbsp. flour
2 cups milk ½ tsp. celery salt

Soak dried peas overnight in 2 cups of the cold water. Drain. Saute the onion until tender in 1 tbsp. of the fat or fat cut from the bone. Add ham bone, drained peas, celery salt, salt, pepper and the remaining 6 cups cold water. Cover, bring to a boil and then simmer gently for 3 hours. Remove ham bone and all surface fat. Make a thin white sauce by adding the flour to the remaining 1 tbsp. of fat in the top of a double boiler. Add the milk and cook, stirring constantly until smooth, and occasionally for 10 minutes longer. Combine with the soup, heat well and serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cream of Brown Onion Soup

2 medium onions, minced
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
3 tbsp. flour 1 cup milk
2 cups bouillon ½ tsp. salt

Place the onions and butter in the top of a double boiler over direct heat and cook until the onions are brown. Remove from the heat and add the flour, blending thoroughly. Add the bouillon and milk and place over boiling water. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Season if necessary with the salt, and serve with grated cheese sprinkled over the top, if desired. Makes 4 servings. For the bouillon, use beef-flavored bouillon cubes or extract.

Cream of Potato Soup

2 cups finely diced, pared, raw potatoes
2 minced medium onions
2 outside stalks celery, including leaves, diced
2½ cups boiling water
½ tbsp. butter or margarine
1½ tbsp. flour
1½ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper
2 cups milk, scalded
1 tbsp. minced parsley

Cook potatoes, onions and celery in the boiling water, covered, until very tender. Meanwhile, melt butter in a double boiler. Add flour, stir until smooth, then add seasonings and milk. Cook while stirring until smooth and thickened. Then rub the potato mixture, liquid and all, through a sieve—there should be 3 cups of puree. Add to sauce with parsley, heat and serve. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

HERE'S A HONEY of a dress for the college wardrobe . . . or fall and winter wear for the business girl or young matron. It was shown at the "People's Fashion Show" in New York . . . a junior dressmaker wool plaid with a Quality look, set off by its black velveteen collar and buttons. It has gayety and warmth, a combination we may appreciate this winter when the fuel runs low—R. M.

Beauty Give Your Hair a Break

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

LOVELY Constance Moore, stage star, looks happy as she runs her hand through her soft, lustrous locks. If you would restore the gleam to yours, try a wonderful herbal oil shampoo at home, advises the beauty editor today.

NEXT time you catch yourself wailing over your hair, which should be a crowning glory but too often isn't, stop and reflect as to whether you really give it a break or not

We've got so into the habit of depending utterly on the hairdresser, and that's all right so long as you have a good one and you get your hair washed every week. But with the hurry-scurry of life today . . . the difficulty of getting an appointment . . . and the added calls on our time for war work and marketing, it is too easy to let the weeks slip by.

There's no excuse for dirty hair, any more than for a dirty neck . . . which may be very inelegant talk, but quite true. If your hair is also in a sorry state because of a dry scalp or dandruff, you certainly need to know about a wonderful herbal oil shampoo that you can use at home, and that will do wonders for your stringy or dusty coiffure.

This shampoo is the product of a famous firm which has specialized in treating scalp and hair conditions for 40 years. Only the highest grade oils and analeptic herbs are used in making it, so that it not only cleanses every bit of dust and grime out, but gives new life and luster to your locks.

This shampoo is used on request (and thousands of smartly-groomed women will have no other) in one of Boston's most exclusive beauty salons. If your purse does not permit this luxury, however, you can buy yourself a bottle for very little, or you can get it in cake form.

Incidentally, this cake shampoo (very inexpensive) containing the same herbal oils, is a grand giftie to slip into a package going to a girl serving overseas . . . or for that matter, to a man. It is also fine for the delicate hair and scalp of infants.

Try a bottle of the liquid, or a cake of this soap shampoo and see what it does for your lifeless hair. You can get a small size for under a dollar, and a larger one for $1.25, in the liquid shampoo, which we prefer for washing our own hair. The soap is only 50 cents.

Call the Beauty Department, Liberty 4000, or write me, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for information as to the whereabouts and name of this product.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Tuesday—One of the clippings which has been sent me starts with the following paragraph:

"As she ages, the feminine part of the Roosevelt presidency becomes wilder in her attempts to force American youths to follow the pattern of life she wants to dictate to them. Now she is starting to campaign for compulsory military training after the war for our boys and girls of 18 years of age. She says 'our youngsters must get it into their minds that they have a responsibility to their country.'"

In the two columns which I have written in the past two days, I have tried to express clearly why we should have a little different emphasis and perhaps call on some new methods to help us all to be better citizens in our great democracy.

* * *

BUT ONE THING I hope I have made very clear, and that is that everything which I say is only in the form of suggestions. These are made in order to interest people and bring about discussion. When some concrete plans are actually suggested by those who properly have the responsibility for such suggestions, there will then be among us all an awakened interest and a background of thought and discussion.

And now to this terrifying subject of what part girls might play in a program of national service. It is possible that a girl might give a year of service without leaving home. Such service might well prove of value to the hospitals, or to some of the government agencies—local, state or national—which happen to be in the vicinity, or to some civic or charitable activity dealing with child care or recreation

* * *

IN ANY OF THESE activities, a girl might learn many things which would be a help to her in her future life, either in her home or in work which she may undertake.

The essential thing, as I see it, is that we should think out ways to increase our participation in government

Use Maiden Name

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—I have been a business woman for several years, and in my position my name has come to have a certain professional value. In two months I am going to be married, and am going to continue in my position. I am in a quandary as to what form of name to use in business after I am married. I had thought of using my initials with the surname of my husband-to-be (M. A. Brown), or perhaps Mrs. Mary Brown, or Mrs. Mary Allen Brown. What do suggest?

MARY.

In my judgment the very best taste is for you to continue to use your maiden name in business, Mary Allen. This is sensible and practical, since you have made that name professionally valuable and since it means no change as far as your business contacts are concerned. This also avoids the unattractive form of either "Mrs. Mary Brown" or "Mrs. Mary Allen Brown." And using the initials M. A. Brown will doubtless present complications, for when a woman signs initials to a business letter, the addressee may be confused as to how to address the answer to the letter.

* * *

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—What do you think of this "Good-by now" that so many people say nowadays?

I like it! There seems to be a bit of lilt about the phrase, and many people say it with a light grace that is quite alluring. And the "now" gives a pleasant thought of "I'll be looking forward to seeing you again, and very soon."

She Should Take Gift to Party

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I'm more than a bit confused about the "correct thing" to do about an invitation I have just received . . . a formal invitation to a combination surprise birthday and engagement-announcement party. Do you approve of my idea of taking a personal gift for the guest of honor, even though I know her most casually? I realize that a birthday party invitation calls for a gift, but that an engagement-announcement party does not. Also, I didn't think it customary to send formal invitations for an affair of this kind. What do you think I should do? T. H.

I'm pretty sure that taking a gift to this party is the thing to do, and, if I were you, I'd take a personal gift as a gesture to at least the surprise birthday part of the party. And I'd do this even though you don't know the guest of honor well, and even though the invitation is a formal one (which, as you say, isn't customary for this kind of party).

New Date Dress

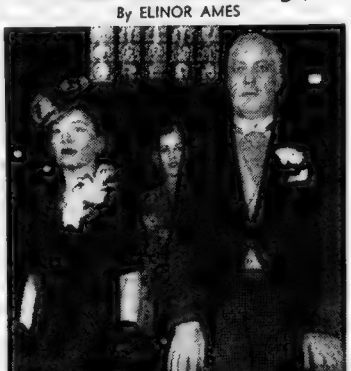
By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE date dresses that girls anywhere from 16 to 30 are going to wear out this Fall have a new look about them, and they can't possibly be mistaken for some little number left over from last year. One of the things that makes a date dress look so different is the way its waistline seems to have slipped down around the hips. It's a trick, of course, for the real waistline is fitted and made clear, but at the hipline there will be a huge bow, or a partial peplum or something to dramatize this low-lying line rather than the real waistline.

It is all explained in our sketch. It is a plum red crepe dress with a huge bow on the left hip and nothing but fitting to reveal the real waistline. Very new, too, are the deep armhole sleeves. A feather lampshade hat from John-Frederics is sketched with this dress.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES



CHURCH WEDDING—After he relinquishes his daughter to the bridegroom, the father of the bride joins the bride's mother in the first pew, left side of the middle aisle. It is optional whether he takes the end seat or slips in past his wife in order to let her have the best view of the bride and groom as they start down the aisle.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—Joe Ricardel, the bandleader, was the hero of the night club battle of the week. It started (early Friday a. m. in front of El Morocco) when an unidentified stranger tossed an insult to Ricardel's companion, a young lady. Ricardel lost a front tooth in the bout; the y. l. struck the most telling blow of the contest when she hit the insulter over the head with the heel of her slipper . . . June Sittar, of the "Follow the Girls" beauty battalion, and Com. Storm, aide to the Governor of the Virgin Islands, are a heartillery barrage . . . When Sarling Baruch, Jr., receives the final decree his next bride will be the daughter of one of Canada's wealthiest families.

Mary Martin

LUNA PARK, recently destroyed by fire, will be rebuilt—and possibly renamed—in time for next summer's crowds . . . Intimates believe Bobby Sherwood, the orchestra leader, is secretly married to his assistant, Helen Walsh . . . Jack Entratter, the Copacabana host, saved Michael Maurice, a young actress, from four thugs on E. 49th st., the other a. m. She'll learn her rescuer's name here; he was too modest to give it to her . . . There must be a priority on romance. A Washington biggie planes here weekly for a date with Victoria Schools, the singer.

DURING THE HOT SPELL the number of paying sightseers in Radio City doubled . . . the air-conditioning, you know . . . If the Tommy Dorsey-Jon Hall party fracas reaches the California courts the gents who backed Tommy in his Los Angeles dance hall will figure in the case . . . Betty Lawford, the actress, and Alan Kent, the radio announcer who invented those singing commercials (aw, don't kill the guy) are a Big New Thing . . . Jacqueline Durant, eight-year-old daughter of Jack Durant and former film sfar, Molly O'Day, joins the Quiz Kids next month . . . Mary Martin is mourning the death of her mother . . . A famous screen actress paid $3500 for a face-lifting job at Wickersham Hospital a fortnight ago.

A PRODUCER is in bad shape with the bookies. His current bill with one of them—just one—is $100,000 . . . Are you beautiful and husky enough to tote around a few packs of cigarettes? La Martinique is holding a contest on Friday (the 25th) to find the town's prettiest tobacco vendor. Winner will get a $100 bond and a job as the midnight circuit's highest paid ciggie girl . . . The Jerry Waynes (he's the band-leader) have broken up again after a series of reconciliations . . . Tommy Chatfield, former ward of the Marquis de Cuevas, is out of the Army with a medical discharge and an injured arm . . . Arnold Reuben, patriotic restaurateur, has sold—personally—a total of $6,000,000 in War Bonds, as of this week . . . Watch for Sir Victor Sassoon to make the headlines . . . The members of the international set who fled to the U. S. for refuge already are making plans to whisk back to the Riviera at the earliest possible moment.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23—Clark Gable is interested in Robert Hopkins' story, "Duke of New Orleans," and expressed a desire to play in it if the scenario is ever written. The story is about a gambler and a nun . . . David Selznick has been discussing an original story about India with Angna Enters . . . Jeanne Crain and Paul Brooks are really vooming . . . Ben Hecht is writing the additional scenes for "Guest In The House," which Andre de Toth is directing . . . Sam Goldwyn is discussing the possibility of a musical version of "Bulldog Drummond" for Danny Kaye . . . The ballet "Fancy Free" which created a sensation when performed at the Hollywood Bowl, has been purchased by Paramount and will be used in "Duffy's Tavern" . . . Mike Todd has signed Jackie Paley for a lead in his next Broadway show, "According to Plan" . . . Over in the Warner photo gallery, cheesecake pictures are now called "whistle art."

Ginny Simms

* * *

GINNY SIMMS' next picture will be a modernized version of "The Girl From Rector's." . . . RKO is trying to borrow Turhan Bey from Universal for their Technicolor film, "Sinbad" . . . Garbo is getting around again. Gee Gee made several visits during the past week to the decorating establishment of Jacques Mersereau to discuss plans for the refurbishing of her house . . . Ted Straeter of Ciro's says that the American soldiers now sing it, "The First Time I Saw Paris . . ."

* * *

ERROL FLYNN insists on a vacation at Acapulco before starting work in "San Antonio" . . . William Bendix will have a leading role in "A Bell for Adano" . . . Archduke Franz Joseph is in town and is discussing a deal whereby he will act as "advisor" on the remake of "Mayerling" . . . Betty Jane Greer and Producer William Girard are vooming . . . Paramount is considering remaking the Clara Bow picture, "Roughhouse Rosie," with Betty Hutton . . . Eddie Small is trying to buy the rights to "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" from Mary Pickford for a Technicolor costume film . . . Sign of the times: On a barracks wall at the RAF Coastal Command post where Lee Bowman, Pat O'Moore and Steve Crane play a scene for Columbia's "Tonight and Every Night," is tacked a travel poster. "Visit Germany this summer," it reads.

* * *

ALEX D'ARCY and Lynn Merrick don't care who knows that they care . . . Dana Andrews will play the romantic lead opposite Maureen O'Hara in "State Fair" . . . Producer Paul Small and Benny Fields, who have a hit show now in San Francisco, went to a hotel there to try and get accommodations during the show's run. Small noticed that the hotel was in the process of being redecorated and a new sign was being constructed in the front. Small and Fields questioned all this reconstruction and the room clerk said, "Yes, we recaptured this hotel from the Army last week."

"People are Sure Hungry for News These Days!"

Boston After Dark

THE "ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" theme is becoming an outstanding motif this literary season . . . Writers of fiction and for the stage are finding the theme attractive . . . Edgar MacGregor's production, "Down to Miami," which comes soon to Boston, is described as a "literate variation of the Abie's Irish Rose story" . . . A popular weekly features a serialized novel, "Earth and High Heaven," an absorbing romance between an English-Canadian girl and a Jewish-Canadian boy who endure similar parental opposition to that which made "Abie's Irish Rose" the most successful play of the booming 1920's . . . The picture factories are being bombarded with manuscripts in which Jewish girls or Jewish boys are the protagonists.

* * *

"DOWN TO MIAMI" is the work of a retired captain in the U. S. Navy, Conrad Westervelt . . . He has written three other plays, two of them produced . . . The Navy is dominating the early Boston show season incidentally . . . Dave Wolper's new drama (which also begins with the word "down" and is called "Down to the Sea") is the story of four Navy wives who room together while their husbands share the cramped quarters of a U. S. destroyer . . . With "Shore Leave," the story of four Navy fliers on the loose in San Francisco, due for a Broadway production, the gobs and officers of the fleet will not lack for personalized diversion along Broadway . . . (That is, of course, if the dray-mas now in the incubator get that far).

* * *

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Betty Hutton's personal appearance contract calls for suspension of all pass courtesies at the RKO-Boston for the duration of her engagement . . . William Patrick Dunlay, the veteran trouper will play "Squire Cribbs" in "The Drunkard" when the Casa Manana and Russ Offhaus launch the new season a week from Thursday night, was understudy to George M. Cohan from 1907 to 1914 . . . Those were the prime years of the Cohan career as song-and-dance man and light comedian . . . Noble and King will open at the Copley Plaza's Sheraton-Oval Room on Columbus Day . . . Johnny Johnston's engagement in Boston was the most sucessful summer engagement on record in the Boston hotel supper room where he played . . . The new blonde crooner is expected to skyrocket to stardom, passing such earlier starters as Dick Haymes and Perry Como.

* * *

THE MARVELOUS violinist who has been entertaining guests of Tom Maren's Shangri-la is—in answer to a number of inquiries—Charles Opper, a member of the Boston musicians' local . . . The instrument played by the Shangri-la's featured fiddle-player is a valuable Guarnarias, but the talented Opper could draw miracles from the strings of a Grandrapids . . . Alexander Zadel accompanies on a xylophone . . . The new Myles Standish cocktail lounge and bar, designed by Mary Morrison Kennedy of Boston, will open a pre-view audience Monday, Sept. 11 . . . The color scheme is coral, green and ivory . . . Buddy Bonds is at an electric organ, and Betty Sharpe, the accordianist who has been playing a summer engagement at the Hotel Roosevelt, will be the entertainers.

* * *

DINI, THE POPULAR maitre d' of the old Club Morocco, will greet the guests, and this column got a slight kick out of one further fact in the new room's press release . . . The "purpose" of the new room is described as follows: To give the public (a) "an intimate rendezvous with gay entertainment," and (b) to dispose of $100,000 worth of choice and nearly unobtainable liquors" . . . And while on the subject of "nearly unobtainable" liquors, the Music Box has the best collection of real cognacs and brandies in town, we think.

3 Top Stars On Met Program

Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray and Edward G. Robinson are starred in Paramount's "Double Indemnity," opening at the Metropolitan Thursday.

The companion attraction will be "Minstrel Man," a backstage story of show business from the days of the old-time minstreal shows to present day musical extravaganzas, starring Benny Fields with Gladys George and Roscoe Karns.

"Double Indemnity" is described as a strange story of two lovers, Fred and Barbara, endeavoring to perpetrate a fraud on an insurance company and collect a giant-sized policy upon the death of the latter's husband.

Fred, the company's ace salesman, first meets Barbara's husband when he signs him up for automobile insurance. Fred's infatuation for Barbara, and her desire for wealth, lead the two lovers to plot a clever murder. Edward G. Robinson, cast as a famous insurance detective, tracks down the clues which lead to the capture of the criminals.

Directed by Billy Wilder, "Double Indemnity" features a supporting cast headed by Jean Heather and Tom Powers.

N. E. Mutual Play Sept. 6-8

The two-act musical revue, "Let's Be Friendly," will be presented at New England Mutual Hall for an audience of Temporary Reserve Coast Guardsmen, on the evenings of Sept. 6, 7 and 8.

Written and directed by John O. Nilan and Arnold G. Wehmann of the advertising division of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, the show's cast includes 50 company employes, 38 of them pretty girls from the Boston office.

Including six musical numbers and three timely dramatic skits, the story is of a soldier away from home, as he reads the descriptive letters from the "girl he left behand him." The character of this overseas serviceman is played by Walter Ferretti, a veteran of Guadalcanal.

BOY'S HIP BROKEN IN FALL

Mizio Cascio, 13, of Chesterton st., Roxbury, was under treatment at City Hospital today for a fractured hip, suffered when he fell down a porch pillar at his home.

$249,141 to War Fund From Suffolk Downs

By JACK CONWAY

GORDON B. HANLON, president of Suffolk Downs, got his greatest thrill out of racing when he presented a check for $249,141.16 to the National War Fund and associated charities. This represented the earnings of Eastern Racing Association, Inc., which operates Suffolk Downs, for the six days of charity racing. The Treasury Department had approved charity week, and as a result there was not any government tax on the money earned during that period.

President Hanlon was as pleased as a youngster starting on a holiday as he turned over the huge check to the National War Fund. He was delighted at the part Suffolk Downs and racegoers had taken in helping worthy war charities.

Gordon B. Hanlon

The check of $249,141.16 to the National War Fund and Associated charities brought Suffolk Downs' total contribution to war charities since Pearl Harbor to $954,606.08.

The National War Fund will distribute the $249,141.16 as follows:

American Red Cross Greater Boston Metropolitan Chapter, War Fund Drive, $124,570.58; National War Drive and Greater Boston United War Fund Drive $99,656.46; Boston Record-American-Advertiser Charity Fund for Disabled Veterans, $12,457.06 Bundles for America, Inc. $12,457.06.

Present when Hanlon turned over the Charity Funds to William V. Fawcett, Massachusetts National War Fund Campaign manager, at the downtown office of Suffolk Down's were: John L. Arnold, Treasurer of Suffolk Down; Albert B. Carter, National War Fund; Denis W. Delaney, collector of Internal revenue in Boston; Charles F. Connors, chairman of the Massachusetts State Racing Commission; Charles F Rowley and Julius F. Haller of the Red Cross; Henry A. Laughlin and Ralph Frank of the Greater Boston United War Drive; Harold G. Kern and Jack Conway of the Boston Record-American Advertiser Charity Fund for disabled veterans and Mrs. Arthur L. Devens, representing Bundles for America.

Racing Has Done Part

THE SUFFOLK Downs' contribution to war charities added to racing's contributions. When millions of service men return home after gaining victory, racing will not have to make any explanations for failure to help out on the home front. Horse and dog racing have been large contributors to war charities.

Russ Murray's Raynham dog track and Suffolk Downs have been among the large contributors to the Boston Record-American-Advertiser Charity Fund for Disabled Veterans this year. The other New England horse and dog tracks are expected to join in this fine work for the disabled veterans of this war as they did in 1943. As a result of these contributions, the returning service men will feel that their deed of valor, their unflinching bravery, their suffering and privations were not forgotten. Gratitude is one of the finest virtues in any people.

Other Sports Also Help

THE DISABLED Veterans' Fund has had the full support of other sports. Art Ross' Bruins, the Olympics, the Ice Follies, Ice Capades, Dilboy Post, V. F. W., the Goodwin A. C., Callahan A. C., Skating Vanities, Lt. Col. Walter Brown of the Boston Garden and other sports promotions have helped to make this fund successful so that it could aid disabled veterans.

Ted Collins' Yanks have also insisted on aiding this splendid war charity.

Sox Admit It!

It is with smug satisfaction and a few chuckles that we announce that Clem Dreiserwerd, southpaw pitcher of the Sacramento Club of the Pacific Coast League has been purchased by the Red Sox for the sum of $32,500 and will report to Manager Joe Cronin probably on Saturday at Philadelphia.

When we first sprung the exclusive story that Dreiserwerd was to come to the Red Sox just five weeks ago it was laughed off by the Red Sox front office, probably the most efficient office in the world outside of the FBI and Scotland Yard for keeping secrets. Earl Sheeley, old White Sox first baseman, now managing Sacramento, is the Red Sox scout on the West Coast. Earl gets himself some dough for sending this southpaw up. Maybe hard to take in view of the Red Sox denials, but if any big league ball player, or a scout, ever refused to accept the old mazuma, we learn, after a lifetime around those players, that a world's record has been established.

Dreiserwerd has won 20 games and lost 9 for Sacramento. He is 28 years old, weighs 195 and stands 6 ft. 1 in. tall. Meanwhile at Bill Grimes' suggestion, Oscar Judd has taken the first train for his home in Canada where they might use farm hands, if not sore-armed pitchers.

FRED HOEY.

Braves Bump Into 1-Hitter

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Max Lanier, chunky St. Louis Cardinal left-hander from Denton, N. C., last night pitched a brilliant one-hit game and won his first decision of the year over the Boston Braves, 2 to 1.

The Cardinals also won the first game of the twilight night doubleheader, 7 to 4, with Southpaw Harry Brecheen gaining his 13th triumph against two defeats.

Butch Nieman's scratch single off George Kurowski's glove in the first inning which drove in Boston's only score was the sole safe blow against Lanier. A walk, and an error by Max set the stage for the tally.

Four men reached first base for Boston, as the Cardinal ace issued two walks and struck out six.

In the twilight affair the Braves were able to score only in the seventh after two were out when four hits including Tommy Holmes' second double produced four runs.

Marty Marion hit a home run with one on in the fourth and Stan Musial connected for the circuit with two aboard in the sixth.

Braves Hustle Home to Tackle Phils Tomorrow

By BILL GRIMES

Instead of resting up tomorrow afternoon after their long trip home from St. Louis, the Braves will hustle from the Huntington Ave. Station to their Allston Wigwam for a single game with Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons' Phillies.

Early in the season, the Braves and Phillies were rained out. So they had six games to play in three days. Instead of having two off days, Pres. Bob Quinn scheduled the postponed game for tomorrow. There'll be another single game on Friday, but on Saturday and Sunday, the Braves and Phillies will play doubleheaders.

The Braves had reservations on the 9:30 train out of St. Louis this morning. They are due at Huntington ave. at 11:59 tomorrow.

After taking both ends of Sunday's doubleheader from the Indians and moving up to within three and one half games of the Browns, the Red Sox fell before Lou Boudreau's Cry Babies, Monday and yesterday.

O'NEILL BEHIND BATTER

Emmett O'Neill, who is now rated as Joe Cronin's No. 3 hurler, wasn't up to the form he displayed during the first three games he pitched on this home stay. He lacks control, was behind most of the hitters and was nicked for at least one hit in each of the six rounds he was in action.

The pitching was below par during the entire Red Sox-Cleveland series. The four games were batters' paradises. And, the sluggers came into their own. Jim Tabor, Pat Seerey and Ken Keltner each hit two home runs, while George Metkovich, Bob Johnson, Jim Bagby and Mickie Rocco all hit for the circuit.

Schedule Favors Browns' Final Dash

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Emerging from their final eastern invasion with a slight limp and new respect for the Philadelphia A's and Washington Senators, the league-leading St. Louis Browns headed home via Detroit and Cleveland today bolstered by a 4½ game lead and a friendly pat on the back from the schedule makers.

Trouble on their last two stops, where they lost six of eight starts, dampened the enthusiasm of rabid Brownie backers who had considered the flag "in the bag" but Luke Sewell's men still remained the solid choice on the basis of season-long consistency.

All American League clubs enjoy an open date today and only Chicago at St. Louis night game is listed in the National as clubs change scenery to open a month of scrapping in their own areas before the final intersectional series.

23 BROWN HOME GAMES

With 34 games to play, the Browns' schedule calls for 23 at home and only five road dates after they complete the impending series in Detroit and Cleveland. The Tigers, likewise, finish at home but trail by six lengths and have dropped to fourth place. New York has 13 home dates in its last 27 and Boston has to hit the road for 27 of its remaining 35 tilts.

Johnny Niggeling blanked the Brownies last night in Washington, 3-0, as the Sewell men wound up their trip with the unimpressive score of seven wins in 16 games. A scrap between Nels Potter and George Case touched off a free-for-all among the players in the seventh inning.

Russ Christopher took his seventh straight, the longest streak of the year in the American, when he hurled Philadelphia to a 5-1 victory over Chicago's Johnny Humphries.

PIRATES ON RAMPAGE

Pittsburgh continued to rush headlong in mad but futile pursuit of the Cardinals. The Pirates trimmed Brooklyn, 7-5, their 17th win in the last 18 games, but lost ground to St. Louis as the defending champs upped their lead to 17 games by twice trimming Boston 7-4 and 2-1. Harry Breecheen notched his 13th triumph at Jim Tobin's expense and Max Lanier outpointed Al Javery with a one-hitter, a scratch single off Whitey Kurowski's glove by Butch Nieman in the first inning.

Cincinnati split with the Phils on Tom Delacruz' five-hit, 5-1 job in the second game after Ron Bill Lee a 4-3 edge in the first. New York copped the season series from Chicago by staggering to a 9-8 victory with the Cubs threatening until the very end. Northey's 15th homer had given

Boston Yanks Display Spirit

Any football critic laboring under the illusion that professional football lacks spirit should watch the Boston Yanks work out twice daily at Dean Academy. If spirit, co-operation and willingness mean anything, then the Yanks are going to make things interesting for the National League foes this coming season.

Herb Kopf, who was famed for the spirit he built up in college ball clubs, has done the same with the Yanks. Veterans like Dave Smukler, Keith Ranspot, George Cafego and Bob Davis work just as hard as the unknown gridmen who are fighting desperately to come within the player limit of 28.

KOPF OFFENSE TERRIFIC

The major reason for this feeling is that Kopf and his aides—Johnny Dell Isola and Tillie Manton—have been working with the squad all the way and living right there at Dean with them. They have sold the players on the fact that there is no substitute for hard work and the squad sees their point.

Then, too, the veterans believe that the new Kopf offense is terrific. They have now been given about 20 plays and they know that if everybody carries out his assignments there is no reason why the attack can't click.

Little Scores Two On Domestic Course

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Twin daughters were born last night to Mrs. Lawson Little, Monterey, Cal., wife of the 1940 National Open golf champion, at St. Luke's Hospital.

Both mother and children were reported "doing fine" by hospital attendants.

From his wife's bedside, Little, now a Navy lieutenant stationed at a Hutchinson, Kan., naval air station, described the event as "pretty much of a surprise."

The Littles have one other child, Linda Dorothy, 22 months old.

Boston American, Aug. 23—25

Judd Takes Train as Medicos O. K. Him

Manager Joe Cronin released the news yesterday that he had sent Oscar Judd home . . . However, he didn't state whether or not Judd was still on the Red Sox pay roll . . .

According to the laws of baseball, a player cannot be suspended, or released, if he has been injured in the performance of his diamond duties.

Judd alleged he was injured early in July 1943 while attempting to bunt . . . He claimed that when the ball hit his bat, it drove the willow against his left shoulder . . . He was treated almost daily by Win Green.

He made a trip to St. Louis to have Dr. Hyland diagnose his ailment . . . Time and again he was examined by Ralph McCarthy, the club's physician and also by Dr. Tommie Richards . . . But none of the eminent medicos was able to discover anything would cause to keep Judd from taking his regular turn on the mound.

Fortified with the evidence which the doctors could have offered, the Red Sox could have suspended Judd without any comeback from the Canadian . . . Just as soon as Clem Dreisewerd reports, the Red Sox will have a southpaw pitcher available to regular duty . . . Dreisewerd turned in 20 wins for Sacremento and left the Coast yesterday to join the Cronimmen in Philly or New York.

"CATSO" LOOKS GREAT

There'll be three new comers with the Braves tomorrow, Frankie Drews, a second baseman up from St. Paul and Wood Rich, the former Red Sox hurler and John Hutchins, who pitched here under Casey Stengel . . . Chet Ross and Mike Sandlock will be among the missing.

Jim Tabor's 12th home run of the season, which tied up the game in the 4th, came within a couple of feet of clearing the screen . . George Metkovich is the most improved player in the American League . . . at the start of the season, he couldn't get going . . He had trouble getting a loud foul and his inability to hit affected his defensive work.

But, Manager Cronin stuck with him, nursing him along with pats on the back . . . Finally, the "Skipper" convinced "Catso" that he'd have far more success at the bat if he would "go to left" instead of pulling . . . Then, Metkovich began to hit and now pitchers don't know how to pitch to him and outfielders don't know how to play him.

"Catso's" improvement defensively is due to glove he purchased about a month ago . . . Until he came up with this new mitt, he was never able to field ground balls.

Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner hit bad balls for singles in the 5th . . . But for the fact that he is manager and therefore must protest against many of the decisions rendered by umpires, Lou Boudreau would be one of the most popular players in the business . . . As it is he's one of the most underrated . . . There's nothing that Boudreau cannot do on the diamond and do well.

Bill Huddelston is going to make this trip with the Red Sox . . . Pat Seerey was disgusted with himself after Emmett O'Neill struck him out for the third time in the 6th . . . He kicked up a lot of dirt when he went out to left field and didn't replace them.

NEWSOME LOOKS FINE

Instead of the Indians biting the dust yesterday, it was the Red Sox . . . Steve Gromak was wasting pitches inside and had Cronimen on the ground most of the afternoon . . . The Junior Victory Army hooped things up for the Red Sox out in the right field stands.

Bob Johnson took a long gamble when he went into the left field corner and speared Ken Keltner's drive with his gloved hand . . Jeff Heath capitalizing on the "life" Roy Partee gave him when he missed his foul ball by slapping a single to center, scoring Boudreau, thereby putting the Indians out in front for the third time.

Then, George Woods replaced O'Neill, who had given up ten hits and seven walks in six and one-third innings . . . In his last two starts, both of which he lost from the press coop, it looked like O'Neill was gripping the ball as he did early in the season, well out of his fingers, from which position it is impossible to have control.

Since he has been crouching at the bat. "Skeeter" Newsome has been hitting much better, not to mention more consistently . . . Most of the Red Sox leave for New York today . . . They are to play an exhibition game tomorrow at Camp Monmouth, N. J.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Sammy Weiss, possibly the most avid sports enthusiast in Congress, believes the armed forces are about to give the Army-Navy football classic back to the people, taking a tip in morale-building from the British.

Government restrictions have required the spectacle to be staged the last two war years at either West Point or Annapolis strictly for home consumption but Weiss said today this year's game probably will be held in a major Eastern city with everybody officially welcome.

"I've been talking with some of the service officials and it looks pretty certain the game will be presented in all its prewar glory this fall," said Weiss, Pennsylvania Democrat whose hobby is refereeing professional grid games.

His guess for the locale is either New York or Philadelphia, the former because its transportation system could handle the usual crowd of 70,000 or 80,000 best, the latter because it is more central for the two service institutions.

"The British are going all out for sports as a morale builder, despite their proximity to the Luftwaffe and robot bombs," Weiss said. "Why, they have scheduled 65 sports events over there, 13 of them major events expected to draw between 65,000 and 125,000 people.

"Our government realizes that if the British feel the need for public sports events so keenly, we certainly ought to do the same thing when we're practically out of danger here."
